

The RNCM Associate Scheme for Students of Zhejiang Conservatory of Music

About the Royal Northern College of Music

The RNCM is a leading international conservatoire, located in the heart of Manchester, UK. For many years, the RNCM has been the first choice institution for a large number of aspiring professional musicians from the UK and from across the world.

The history of the RNCM can be traced back to 1893, with the foundation of the Royal Manchester College of Music with Sir Charles Hallé as Principal. The RNCM was formed in 1973 from the merger of the Royal Manchester College of Music with the Northern School of Music (founded 1920). The RNCM is one of the Royal Schools of Music and Queen Elizabeth II is Patron of the College. Today the RNCM is a thriving conservatoire with more than 800 students at both undergraduate and postgraduate level.

The RNCM is also a leading performance venue, and hosts a rich and diverse performance programme, with hundreds of performances each year from both students and professional artists. The RNCM's unique position as both a conservatoire and performance venue means that students will benefit from numerous opportunities to perform regularly to public audiences and work alongside professional musicians and visiting artists.

RNCM Associate Student Scheme

Associate Students may take a range of studies, drawn from the existing RNCM modular offer at Undergraduate and Graduate/School levels.

Undergraduate students of Zhejiang Conservatory of Music, will normally be entering RNCM at Year 3 of our Bachelors of Music (Hons) course.

Studentships last six months (equal to two terms). Associate Students are fully integrated into the RNCM community with access to all of the events, facilities and resources of the College.

At the completion of the Associate Studentship the College offers a certificate of attendance, detailing the duration of the studentship, along with a transcript of studies. The transcript includes description of those modules studied, and those for which assessment has been undertaken, and which have led to the award of credit. Results of Associate Students will be held on the same College record system as all other students, although the credit accumulated will not normally build to an award. All modules will carry Credit Accumulation and Transfer Scheme (CATS) points.
